

KOBALT BOOKS

KOBALT BOOKS was founded in 2003, by Cedric Mixon, as an outlet for inspirational and faith-based stories, inspirational books, all inspirational content, and Christian Spiritual Journals. Kobalt Books is a fully integrated publishing company and broad-based entertainment company in the creation, production, distribution, licensing and marketing of all forms of creative content.

Kobalt Books continues to scout and polish talent who has a story to tell; as well as help build the careers of nearly 20 authors who have already published with Kobalt Books. If an author's book is accepted with Kobalt Books, their book will have the opportunity to take advantage of Kobalt Books' distribution network.

The Author's books will be available at thousands of bookstores worldwide and online, including Barnes & Noble, Borders, amazon.com, bn.com, borders.com, etc.

It's been over 20 years, on Halloween since the founder of Kobalt Books' father was shot 14 times and brutally murdered. Kobalt Books publishes non-fiction books that are actually true stories. Even the fiction books are inspired by true events, presenting real life between the pages for real people.

"The absence of a father affected the way that I view the world, and the focus for Kobalt Books. Life is not a fantasy or a dream for me. I have to be able to look myself in the mirror, and face my own reality", says Mixon.

Mixon graduated from Tennessee State University with a Bachelors in Electrical Engineering, then later an MBA in Marketing. Mixon also completed screenwriting and creative writing courses from University of the Arts – Philadelphia. All of Kobalt Books titles are distributed nationally. Over 20 books later, Kobalt Books has stayed true to the vision that Mixon had when it all began: Stories that cry out to our souls, at the same time makes us laugh and cry.

"Even in tragedy... There stands God." - Cedric Mixon

ABOUT CEDRIC MIXON

Cedric Mixon, born in St. Louis, MO now residing in Philadelphia, PA founded Kobalt Books in 2003, as an outlet for inspirational stories. Mixon is the executive producer of two feature films and one short film. He brokered the national distribution deal for all of Kobalt Books' titles which extends from United States, Canada, United Kingdom and Europe. Cedric Mixon was responsible for devising and implementing a phenomenal grassroots marketing plan for "The Hoodlum Preacher", which produced nearly twenty million impressions with a budget of less than ten thousand dollars. This heightened awareness caught the attention of Hollywood's Moving Pictures Media Group, who are currently developing the book into a film. "Serafina Slow Burn" short film was accepted and screened at the Philadelphia Independent Film Festival, while Mixon's third film, "The Sweetest Cherry" is in Post-Production.

Mixon has produced and directed several music and promotional videos. He is the author of "Lost Letters", "Boldly Walking Naked", and "Soul Mates". Poetry from "Lost Letters" has been featured in Essence Magazine. Mixon published an anthology book of poetry called, "The Univer-Soul Language vol. I", which was awarded Mahogany's Spoken-Word Book of the Year, for 2005, and "The Outspoken Word". He published a line of Christian Spiritual Journals and is in the process of publishing his debut novel, children's and poetry book, "The Sweetest Cherry".

Cedric Mixon graduated from Tennessee State University with a Bachelors in Electrical Engineering, then later an MBA in Marketing. Mixon also completed Screenwriting, Creative Writing, and Video Production courses from University of the Arts – Philadelphia.
